Introduction

Dear parents,

Your child is unique!

He or she has all the skills to playfully develop a strong, self-determined and joyful personality. In the truest mindest, one who can achieve everything in life. To recognize and experience the particular, and individual traits of your child is, simply unique!. A fascinating adventure! Not only for us, the HAPPY NEW TEACHERS but also for you, as a parent. But above all, for your child, who learns to discover and develop their strengths with us.

In any case, with our HAPPY NEW KIDS, your child will find the right environment to develop in a way that suits their nature. The best basis for a bright future. We offer optimal support in every way, exactly where the child needs it. Everything according to plan, but always on the ground of fun and simplicity.

1. Identity and bilingualism

Children from many nations come and enjoy HAPPY NEW KIDS and are looked after bilingually. One hundred percent in german and one hundred percent in english – according to the immersion principle, with qualified teachers for each language.

In everyday situations, our kids learn easily to improve their language skills. Quite automatically, without vocabulary stress – similar to learning their native language. Not only do they develop a better sense of language, but also the ability to think more flexible.

2. Language and social skills

Speech is an essential step for the development of social competence. An important requirement to build a strong personality, developing into someone who knows what she/he can and wants to do and how to express it. A temperament that is not just exceptionally self-confident, cheerful and smart, but one with a heart that is a huge blessing, inspiration and source of strength for everyone around.

With HAPPY NEW KIDS teachers communication between teachers and children takes place on a level playing field in order to build self-confidence. It doesn't matter if we are playing, singing, reading books, counting, learning the alphabet or eating together, language learning takes place everywhere. It is part of everyday life. It is also the mutual appreciation and the respectful interaction with each other. These are the main values which are exemplified by our team.

3. Creativity, inventive talent and motor skills

Creativity is a force that has no patterns in its source and cannot be copied, but an individually available energy in and through which something new, unprecedented emerges – it's unique!

An inherent potential in the human being, which has an inspiring, uplifting, adventurous and inventive power in it and permeates everything that one is. Or in other words: turns every activity into a unique fireworks display. This energy flows in all areas: in the artistic expression (e.g. dance, music, painting, crafts), as well as in the cognitive domain (e.g. invention, imagination, language, order, ability to associate), social sphere (integrity, personal development, value development) and motor skills (e.g. special gifts in the control and expression of the body).

Regardless of »right or wrong,« our focus is not on the outcome, but rather to experience our creative abilities beforehand, which takes place after a child hits their first birthday. The path is therefore the goal – whether through music or dance, through painting, crafts, exercises, baking or playing, we offer a variety of inspirational activities and comprehensive creative projects necessary for expressive development.

4. Literacy and mathematical understanding

Did you know that basic mathematical understanding is already laid in the hands of children? They just need a little hand to help them express it! Even among our kids ages 1 to 3 years old, each one develops their own classification system. For example, each child collects, sorts, and compares – irregardless of specific numeric knowledge. HAPPY NEW KIDS learn about numbers through various situations and games. In the same way they also learn about the spatial and temporal orientation. After all, the school is full of math - with many shapes, colors, quantities and sizes. Our HAPPY BIG KIDS (ages 4 to 6 years) also learn the alphabet easily. Bilingually, in german and english of course. For this we use our animal alphabet, pictures and puzzles. With cutting, curving and fine motor skill games, we prepare them for writing.

5. Exercise and a lot of fresh air

Our body needs movement, only in a healthy body the mind and the soul feel complete and well. And whoever moves themselves will also get things moved in life.

Not only does one learn to know and master one's body, but they also recognize their limitations. Hardly anything makes you happier than the feeling of success that one experiences here. Proven! For this, we not only offer the necessary facilities, but also a varied program, a reliable and carefully chosen team, as well as learning practices presented through every imaginable scope, literally! Additionally, unless there is extreme weather, we spend ample amount of time outside each day to continue to develop the children's motor skills, cognitive development, as well as their artistic expression.

6. Easy learning and self-awareness

To learn playfully is not only the easiest way to learn, but the lessons learned will remain. Depending on the age, less can be more. While children under the age of three years should not be overstimulated, older children are looking for access to a wide variety of experiences.

For this we offer a range of different developmental activities, but of course also free play. We allow our kids to choose their games, game partners and the play area itself. In a friendly relationship, they do not only get to know themselves, but also the personalities of their fellow friends and playmates.

7. The registration process

The decision for suitable placement of your child should be an absolute hit! Therefore, we regularly invite you to our parent information events. Here we introduce ourselves in detail; open questions will be answered and the recommended or necessary starting time for your child in our school can be planned out.

After this event, parents will receive a hand-out which includes all relevant information about our school and program.
